

Cracking the Code: Proven Strategies for Teaching Deaf and Hard of Hearing Children to Read -A two part training

To be held at
Central Washington University in Ellensburg

Part ONE: October 14, 2016—10am to 3pm

Presenter: Sue Hill

Cost: $75

Registration Deadline: October 5th, 2016

Spend a day with Sue Hill, Elementary Principal at Maryland School for the Deaf, where 80% of deaf children are reading at grade level. Sue uses strategies of Leveled Literacy Intervention (which uses principles of Reading Recovery) to create a framework for working with students in small groups. She will walk participants through these successful strategies.

Presented in ASL—interpreters provided

Part TWO: March 17 , 10a-5p

March 18, 9a - 4p

Presenters: Sue Hill and Lisa Pershan

Cost: $140 - 2 days of training

Registration Deadline: March 7, 2017

*Part one provides foundation for Part 2 but is not required to attend

During this intensive 2 day session, Sue Hill and Lisa Pershan, literacy specialists at Maryland School for the Deaf, will build upon the instruction offered during Part 1. They will present in-depth strategies and offer hands on activities that will strengthen your ability to teach reading.

Presented in ASL—interpreters provided

Presenters

Sue Hill, Elementary Principal at Maryland School for the Deaf

Sue Hill is currently the elementary principal at Maryland School for the Deaf. She is a former Reading Recovery teacher and was a Reading Specialist at the Maryland School for the Deaf for eight years prior to becoming the principal. Sue draws heavily on the extensive training she received in Reading Recovery Training and from her experience as a Reading Specialist training her staff on reading strategies, prompts and running records. Sue and her husband are Deaf and have two Deaf children.

Lisa Pershan, Reading Specialist at Maryland School for the Deaf

Lisa is passionate about reading, making reading fun and teaching deaf children. She taught K-12 for fifteen years before becoming a reading specialist and those years taught her that a deaf child can read just as well as any other child. She sees that reading is not an easy task for anyone and loves watching young minds figure out the code we call English.

Cracking the Code: Proven Strategies for Teaching Deaf and Hard of Hearing Children to Read

Part 1—October 14, 2016, Part 2—March 17 and 18, 2017

Please send registration and check made out to CWU to:

WSDS/CWU- 7409, 400 E University Way, Ellensburg WA 98926

Clock hours will be available—directions to sign up for clock hours will be provided with confirmation of registration—individuals must sign up for clock hours through NCESD prior to the session

Questions—Please contact Christy Camarata, christy.camarata@gmail.com, 509.963.1670

Name:

Email address:

Phone:

Home Address:

District:

Position:

Registering for:

- ◇ Part 1 ($75)
- ◇ Part 2 ($140)
- ◇ Part 1 & 2 ($215)